DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kim (6,618,903). Kim has fixed member 40 having a pivot hole 44, a movable member 30 having a pivot hole 34, a first friction pad 50 (with raised portions 52 and recesses 53) fastened to the fixed member, a second friction pad 60 (with raised portions 62 and recessed next to each raised portion) fastened to the movable member, and a shaft 20.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kim '903 in view of Lu (5,269,047).

Art Unit: 3677

Kim discloses the invention as claimed but for the oil holes form in the friction pads. Lu teaches forming oil holes in the friction pad (12, 13) to provide a smooth pivot movement. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the friction pads of Kim with oil holes as taught by Lu to provide a smooth pivot movement.

As to the specific location of the holes, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the oil holes on the raised portions, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 4-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
